Introduction

S&P Global Commodity Insights Platts' methodologies are designed to produce forward curves that are representative of market value, and of the particular markets to which they relate. Methodology documents describe the specifications for various products reflected by Platts' Market Data, the processes and standards Platts adheres to in collecting data, and the methods by which Platts arrives at final values for publication. These guides are freely available on S&P Global Commodity Insights' website for public review.

Platts discloses publicly the days of publication for its forward curves, and the times during each trading day in which Platts considers transactions in determining its forward curves. This schedule of publication is available on S&P Global Commodity Insights' website, at the following link: https://www.spglobal.com/commodityinsights/en/our-methodology/holiday.

The dates of publication and the curve production periods are subject to change in the event of outside circumstances that affect Platts' ability to adhere to its normal publication schedule. Such circumstances include network outages, power failures, acts of terrorism and other situations that result in an interruption in Platts' operations at one or more of its worldwide offices. In the event that any such circumstance occurs, Platts will endeavor, whenever feasible, to communicate publicly any changes to its publication schedule and curve production periods, with as much advance notice as possible.

All Platts methodologies reflect S&P Global Commodity Insights' commitment to maintaining best practices.

Platts' methodologies have evolved to reflect changing market conditions through time, and will continue to evolve as markets change. A revision history, a cumulative summary of changes to this and future updates, is included at the end of the methodology.

How this methodology statement is organized

This description of methodology for Follow-the-Sun (FtS) forward curves is divided into seven major parts (I-VII) that parallel the entire process of producing the forward curves.

- Part I describes what goes into Platts FtS forward curves, including details on what market data is used.
- Part II describes the security practices that Platts uses in handling and treating data.
- Part III is a detailed account of how Platts collects market data, and what Platts does with the data to formulate its forward curves.
- Part IV explains the process for verifying that published curves comply with Platts' standards.
- Part V lays out the verification and correction process for revising published curves and the criteria Platts uses to determine when it publishes a correction.
- Part VI explains how users of Platts forward curves can contact Platts for clarification of data that has been published, or to register a complaint. It also describes how to find out more about Platts' complaint policies.
- Part VII is a list of detailed specifications for the trading locations and products for which Platts publishes FtS forward curves.

Part I: Data quality and data submission

Platts aggregates multiple data sources to produce a single cross-checked series of curves using an open and validated methodology, offering clients a view of forward values that can be used for independent valuation, mark-to-market validation processes, strategic decision support, or other portfolio risk management processes. The product also provides a valuable source of information for evaluating and verifying internally generated values for marking forward positions.

Platts maintains comprehensive historical data on spot and forward prices of individual locations. This dataset is used to define and statistically verify temporal and spatial relationships among the curves and locations. This data is a primary and critical input into the CRS (Commodity Risk Solutions) quantitative curve generation process and is an asset that is unique to Platts.

General principles applicable to all derivative or forward markets

- Forward curves are a reflection of editorially-assessed spot and forward prices and are subject to careful review.
- Platts tracks values and interrelationships over the whole course of the day.
- Information is cross-checked to ensure data integrity.
- Illiquid markets may be estimated relative to more-liquid markets.
- Platts gives highest priority to available market data but allows for the use of model data to fill out curves where market data provide no indications.

Part II: Security and confidentiality

Data is stored in a secure network, in accordance with Platts' policies and procedures.

Part III: Calculating forward curves

Follow-The-Sun curves use those commodities and prices that are assessed by Platts products at both their "native" closing time and a later time - like Brent at London MOC and Houston MOC, as markers for the time-changing values of many products. These differences are then used to shift other, similar products to later closes as well. Asian curves are shifted as Follow-the-Sun London following London close and then again as FtS Houston at the following Houston close. Similarly, EMEA curves are shifted as FtS Houston at the Houston close and as FtS Singapore at the Singapore close. And finally, Americas curves are shifted as FtS Singapore at the Singapore close and as FtS London at the London close.

Time differences are always "forward" - so, for example, the Singapore-shifted closing estimates are based on the prior day's Houston and London closings, and the changes of the marker prices. Similarly, the London-shifted estimates are based on the earlier in the day Singapore, and the prior day's Houston close.

Part IV: S&P Global Commodity Insights Platts standards

All Platts' employees must adhere to the S&P Global Code of Business Ethics (COBE), which has to be signed annually. The COBE reflects S&P Global's commitment to integrity, honesty and acting in good faith in all its dealings.

In addition, S&P Global Commodity Insights requires that all employees attest annually that they do not have any personal relationships or personal financial interests that may influence or be perceived to influence or interfere with their ability to perform their jobs in an objective, impartial and effective manner.

Platts has a Quality & Risk Management (QRM) function that is independent of the Commodity Risk Solutions (CRS) group. QRM is responsible for ensuring the quality and adherence to Platts' policies, standards, processes and procedures. The QRM team conduct regular assessments of CRS operations, including checks for adherence to published methodologies.

S&P Global's internal auditor, an independent group that reports directly to the parent company's board of directors, reviews the Platts risk assessment programs.

Part V: Corrections

Platts is committed to promptly correcting any material errors. When corrections are made, they are limited to corrections to data that was available when the forward price was calculated.

Part VI: Requests for clarifications of data and complaints

Platts strives to provide critical information of the highest standards, to facilitate greater transparency and efficiency in physical commodity markets.

Platts customers raise questions about its methodologies and the approach taken in the formation of forward curves. Platts strongly values these interactions and encourages dialogue concerning any questions a customer or market stakeholder may have.

However, Platts recognizes that occasionally customers may not be satisfied with responses received or the services provided by Platts and wish to escalate matters. Full information about how to contact Platts to request clarification around a forward price, or make a complaint, is available on the S&P Global Commodity Insights website, at: https://www.spglobal.com/commodityinsights/en/contact.

Part VII: Definitions of the curves shifted as Follow-The-Sun forward curves

Follow-The-Sun relies on other, published curves as the base for its prices and shifting. Please contact pl_risk_production@spglobal.com for the specific details of any single curve. The details of the underlying curves, and the methodology used for them is beyond the scope of this document and can be found in the original documents for the respective Oil/Refined Product at https://www.spglobal.com/commodityinsights/en/our-methodology/methodology-specifications/oil.

The FtS curves are organized into Market Data Categories that encode the original location, the "shifted" location and the set of products in the category. The category and curve names are prefaced with the "shifted" location, so "FtS London" is Asian and American curves shifted to London MOC.

The first two letters are best visualized in this table:

		lose

Shifted close	Singapore	London	Houston
Singapore	-	FtS Singapore (RSx)	FtS Singapore (USx)
London	FtS London (ALx)	-	FtS London (ULx)
Houston	FtS Houston (AHx)	FtS Houston (RHx)

And the final letter in this one:

Final Letter	Product Family
D	Distillate Cracks
E	Light End Cracks
F	Fuel Oils
L	Light Ends
M	Distillates
0	Fuel Oil Cracks

Resulting in ALL for Singapore Light Ends shifted to London MOC, where you can find the FtS London Naphtha FOB Singapore curve, for example.

How to read the symbol tables

For the ten-year and twenty-year subscriptions, each location has a reference of the form:

ZZZZxyy.

This can be decoded to all symbols for a location in this manner:

zzzz is the hub code for that curve, and does not change for a particular curve.

x = P or R, where P is for Monthly periodicity and R is for Quarterly yy = a sequential relative month or quarter number, (01, 02, etc)

For example,

FtS London Naphtha Japan Swap Month 1 = NJMLP01

FtS Houston FO 180 FOB Spore Swap Quarter 2 = F38HR02
